

About Harvard Trade Union Program

The Harvard Trade Union Program (HTUP) is an intensive five-week executive training program designed for trade union leaders. It is a program of the Center for Labor and a Just Economy (CLJE) at Harvard Law School. HTUP is the oldest executive leadership program at Harvard University. Since 1942, HTUP has taught the essential skills for the management and leadership of unions, as well as providing a unique opportunity to explore key issues for the labor movement.

About the Center for Labor and a Just Economy

The Center for Labor and a Just Economy (CLJE) at Harvard Law School is a hub of collaborative research, policy and strategies to empower working people to build an equitable economy and democracy. Acknowledging the systemic failures and extreme concentration of power in our society, we are committed to reimagining the law and developing paradigm-shifting policy.
